

A Taste of Northland

Northland is New Zealand's oldest wine producing region, with the first vines planted in 1819 by missionary Samuel Marsden.

Although the smallest of New Zealand's wine producing regions, Northland has a warm climate and some excellent soils for the production of specific grape varieties.

Due to the small production volumes these wines are seldom seen outside the region. Now you are here it is a great opportunity to try some of the best Northland has to offer.
